DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 17 and 21-24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Burns (5,850,773).

In regards to claims 17 and 21, Burns discloses the same invention including a moving a cutting blade by applying a drive force so as to transit a center portion of an optical fiber (20), reducing an amount of drive force applied to the cutting blade after the cutting blade transits the center portion of the optical fiber by a drive force transmission device to move the cutting blade at a constant speed while cutting the optical fiber (29), automatically stopping transmission of the drive force to the cutting blade when cutting of the fiber is done (29), moving the cutting blade by applying the drive force to a cutting blade holder (42), and the cutting blade holder is configured to hold the cutting blade and to receive the drive force (42) from a drive speed reduction device (23, 24, and 25) through the drive force transmission device (29) to move the cutting blade (Fig. 3). In regards to claims 22-24, Burns further discloses the drive force is provided by a motor (21), applying the drive force to the cutting blade holder from the drive speed reduction device including a plurality of speed reducing gears configured to reduce a rotational speed of the motor (23 and 25), applying the drive force to the cutting blade holder through the drive force transmission device including a cam configured to rotated along with a rotation of the plurality of reduction gears (29), and a cam follower configured to move in a rectilinear direction along with the rotation of the cam (40).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 25 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 17 and 21-4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
